Maths no longer a hard nut to crack: Prof Murthy

Prof S K Narasimha Murthy has opined that Mathematics subject is no longer a hard nut to crack for students as many are sceptical about the subject in the recent past.

During a workshop on Mathematics & Science at Sreegar a quadrilateral of DVS Arts & Science College in the city on Thursday, the speaker, who is a former student of the college, said that Mathematics subject in the recent past was considered a hard nut to crack. They must learn easy methods of learning Mathematics. He said, many have scored well in it. 89% students must not consider it as a hard nut to crack. They must learn easy methods of learning Mathematics effectively. Teachers do play a vital role in making students to understand the subject thoroughly. So, the college authorities must conduct workshops on regular basis without fail, on subjects in which students score less marks.

He also suggested the students to make use of workshops without fail and interact with experts to know the methods of understanding complex problems in Mathematics. He added that the need of the hour, he said, students can understand the complex theories in science and score good marks in examinations.

Each of the students could interact with five or six persons during the five-day workshop. The workshop will end on April 30, and students and teachers must discuss the added skills and methods.

DS Management Resident K. Basappa Gowda presided over the event. College Principal S K Chandrasekhar, Dr. D. S. Gurus, Gopinath, S. Ramesh Babu, Prof. Bhaskar and others were present on the occasion.

Prof S K Narasimha Murthy waters a sapling to mark the inauguration of the five-day workshop on Mathematics & Science in Shivamogga on Thursday.
